

DID YOU KNOW? An eighth inch crack in a pipe can release 250 gallons of water in one day.

While You Were Away

According to the Federal Insurance Administration, only 25% of homes in a high risk flood zone carry adequate flood insurance. Flooding is 26 times more likely to occur than a fire.

Water running through a house from a top floor can cause incredible damage. It will soak plaster, drywall, hardwood floor, stairs, insulation, mattresses, upholstered furniture, carpeting and be the source of mold growing inside damp walls. Needless to say, anything you can do to avoid this scene is time and money well spent.

The best ways to protect yourself

Have adequate insurance, as well as have a monitored temperature alarm in your home or vacation property while you're away. You may also elect to have a monitored flood detector to minimize loss and inconvenience. The right protection will provide you peace of mind, and potentially save you thousands of dollars—both in losses and insurance premiums.

Residential Video Solutions

Video solutions once reserved for government and big business has become commonplace in the residential market. Video solutions with remote video access provide homeowners with the ability to watch their property from anywhere in the world. Some of the most common residential video applications are:

- Be alerted when kids come home from school unattended- or in home daycare.
- Checking the status of your home from a remote location.
- Help maintain a level of safety from both vandalism and accidents.

Average loss in a house fire is $25,000!

Of the common 10 homeowners losses 7 of them are related to fire. Just as important as the steps for fire prevention is the selection, placement, and maintenance of your smoke detectors. Most smoke detector manufacturers recommend replacing the detectors every 7-10 years.

- Good- Battery operated smoke and heat detectors.
- Better- Standard hardwired smoke and heat detectors with back up batteries.
- Best- Monitored hardwired smoke and heat detectors with back up batteries.
